VISPRING SINCE 1901

At the turn of the 20th century, an English engineer named James Marshall decided to offer his wife the most precious gift of all - a perfect night's sleep.

A gift to the woman he loved, Marshall's invention was a radical innovation. By pioneering the use of pocket springs, the Vispring mattress redefined bed design: its individually pocketed springs offered independent cushioning and support to usher in unparalleled levels of comfort. Its high quality natural fibres and side vents allowed air to circulate freely, making it cleaner and fresher than any previous bed.

Over the next decade, Vispring became synonymous with comfort and luxury. Its beds acquired pride of place in the bedrooms of the finest homes, establishing themselves as the undisputed reference for people of taste. Named after its revolutionary six-coiled springs, the company continued to innovate: in the 1930s, it introduced its first pocket sprung divans - the other essential ingredient in Vispring's recipe for the ultimate in comfort.

That recipe is as unique today as it was then. At our factory in Plymouth - in the South West of England - our mattresses and divans are still crafted by hand, to order. The same way that they always have been.

BRITISH HERITAGE

Profoundly attached to the values of excellence, comfort and craftsmanship, Vispring embodies an elegance as British as afternoon tea.

Vispring has always epitomized a uniquely British brand of distinction. Our beds couple the technical prowess that launched the industrial revolution with a personalized approach worthy of the finest bespoke tailoring. They combine a quest for the ultimate in quality with profound respect for traditional craftsmanship. They are in step with the accelerated rhythms of modern life while rooted in the unchanging values of the countryside.

In the golden age of the ocean liner, they were to be found in the first class cabins of such legendary vessels as the Queen Mary and the Titanic. Fabled hotels like the Savoy and the Park Lane have prided themselves on the luxury of their Vispring beds. Today, they remain the international standard for comfort and sophistication.

We were proud to be awarded the Queen's Award for Enterprise in 2012 - testimony to our global renown. As an active supporter of His Royal Highness the Prince of Wales's Campaign for Wool, we work with the British Wool Marketing Board to ensure a fair price is paid to producers, thus helping to preserve the UK wool industry for future generations. Handmade in Devon, our beds are at home the world over, embodying an unmistakeable elegance that is theirs alone.

CRAFTSMANSHIP

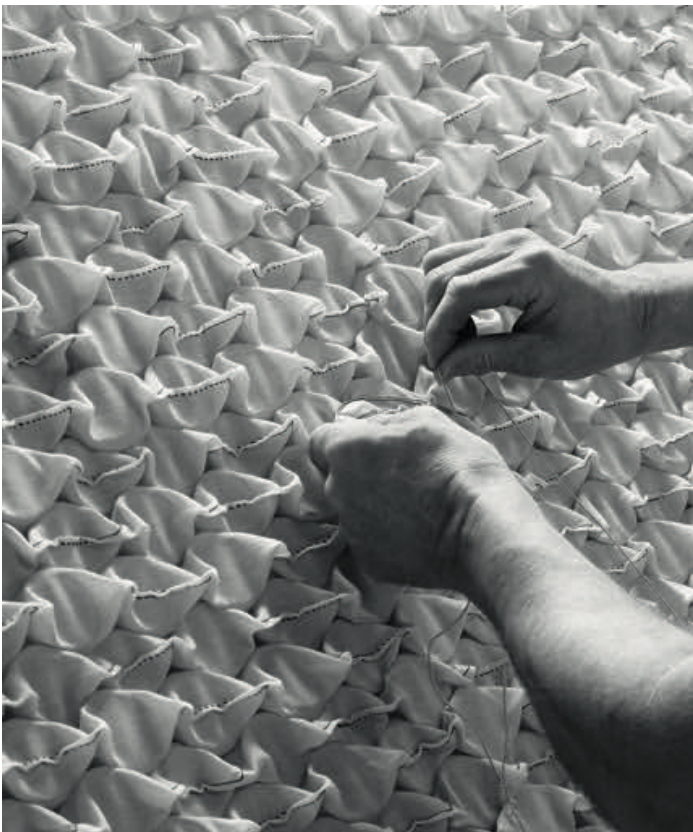

A bespoke bed by Vispring is a guarantee of supreme luxury and untroubled sleep. For over a century, we have been refining the subtle art of pairing the perfect combination of spring size, tension and resilience with the finest materials nature has to offer.

The inventor of the pocket spring in 1901, Vispring has been the leading specialist in the technology ever since. Producing all our own springs from the best Vanadium steel, we fit each mattress and divan with a unique selection to offer a broad range of sleeping options. You may then specify your preferred spring tension to ensure a perfect bed.

We use nothing but the finest natural fibres, expertly selected and blended for the ultimate in comfort and support. Once they have been hand-teased and laid over the springs, each mattress is side-stitched by hand for long-lasting strength. Finished with exquisite fabrics and embroidered with the Vispring name, it bears testimony to an expertise that has never been equalled.

Every Vispring is made individually to order - and entirely by hand. To ensure that each pocket spring works independently, experienced craftsmen hand-nest them in a honeycomb pattern that maximizes the support offered by each bed. Their careful gestures are a guarantee of exceptional resilience and comfort for each of our mattresses and divans.

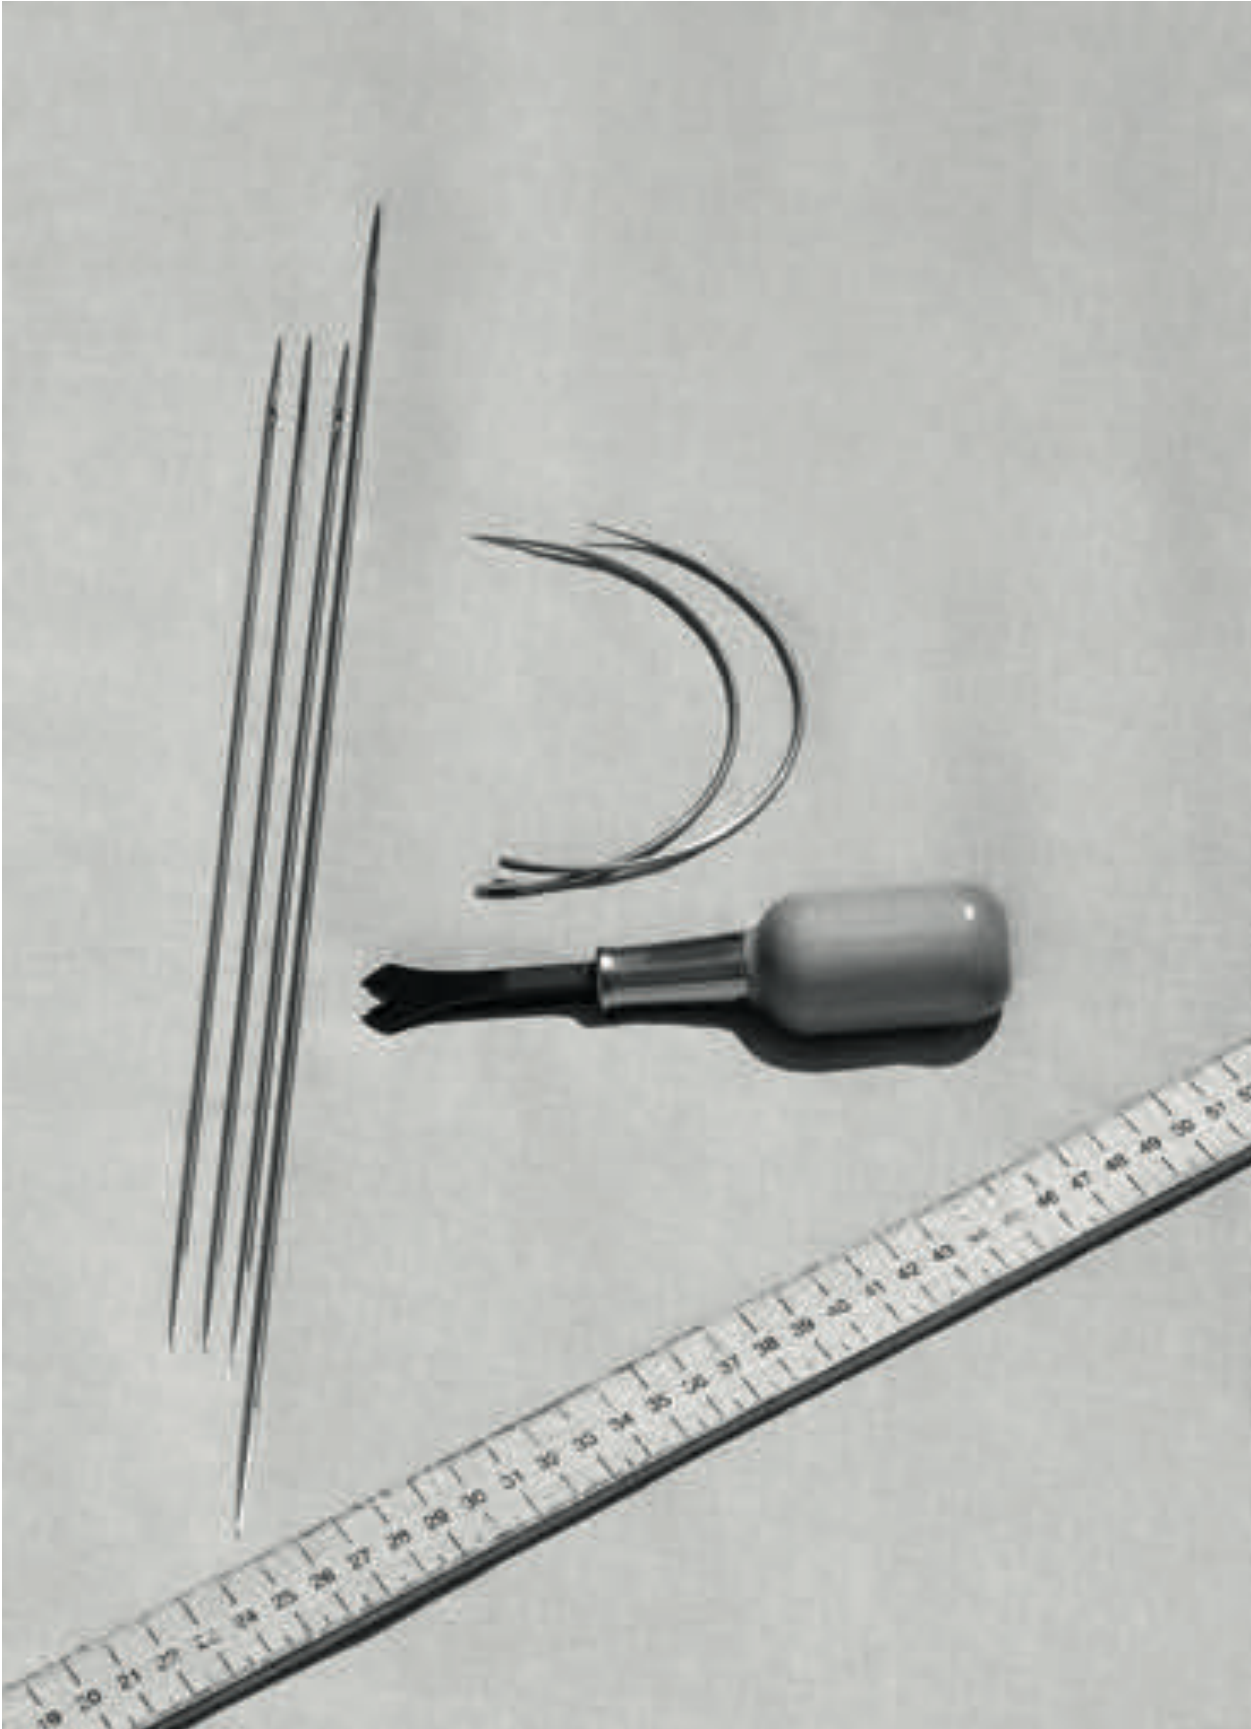

Their long-lasting structural integrity is ensured by another distinctive traditional skill. Genuine side-stitching by hand is an intricate technique that craftsmen take many years to master. Along with an exquisite tailored finish, it provides supportive strength to the mattress edges to extend the lifetime of your bed.

SPRINGS

As our name suggests, springs are a precious ingredient in the Vispring recipe. They work in harmony with your bed's upholstery to supply a delicate balance of strength and softness.

We produce all our springs ourselves, in a process practically unchanged since 1901.

Expertly manufactured from the finest Vanadium steel, our springs display a strength and flexibility that is without equal. Honeycomb-nested inside natural cotton calico pockets, they mould your mattress to your body, providing constant support with no undue pressure. By day, they readopt their original shape to preserve your bed's structure for many years to come.

At the heart of each of our mattresses lies a single, double or triple layer of springs: multi-layer constructions furnish the ultimate in responsiveness and support. More than their number, it is the shape and gauge of the springs that matter. With nine different wire gauges and 58 distinct spring types to choose from, you will be sure to find the perfect spring tensions for both you and your partner.

WOOL

SHETLAND ISLANDS

Britain's changeable climate produces wool that is uniquely soft, springy and strong. Vispring is the only bed maker to use 100% Platinum Certified British fleece wool - regarded as the best in the world - from the windswept Shetland Isles and locally sourced Devonshire fleeces. Hypo-allergenic, breathable and ten times more absorbent than synthetic materials, British wool is the ideal filling for mattresses and divans. Produced in keeping with age-old traditions and with no harm to sheep, it works in harmony with your body to regulate your temperature and ensure long-lasting comfort.

BAMBOO

CHINA

With its name meaning "reincarnation" in a Chinese dialect, bamboo has inspired myths and legends throughout Asia. Originally indigenous to northern China, it is omnipresent in the architecture, industry, cookery and landscapes of the entire continent. Vispring sources its bamboo fibre in China. An eminently sustainable resource, it is also soft and exceptionally absorbent - wicking away moisture to ensure that you wake fully refreshed.

COTTON

TURKEY

Cotton has been farmed since prehistoric times. Hundreds of years before the Christian era, cotton textiles were being produced with exceptional skill in India, from where they spread to Western Europe. The Turkish long-fibre cotton used by Vispring is incredibly soft and durable, with an unparalleled sheen. Highly absorbent and naturally breathable, it is uniquely hygienic - wicking away moisture to preserve your comfort throughout the night.

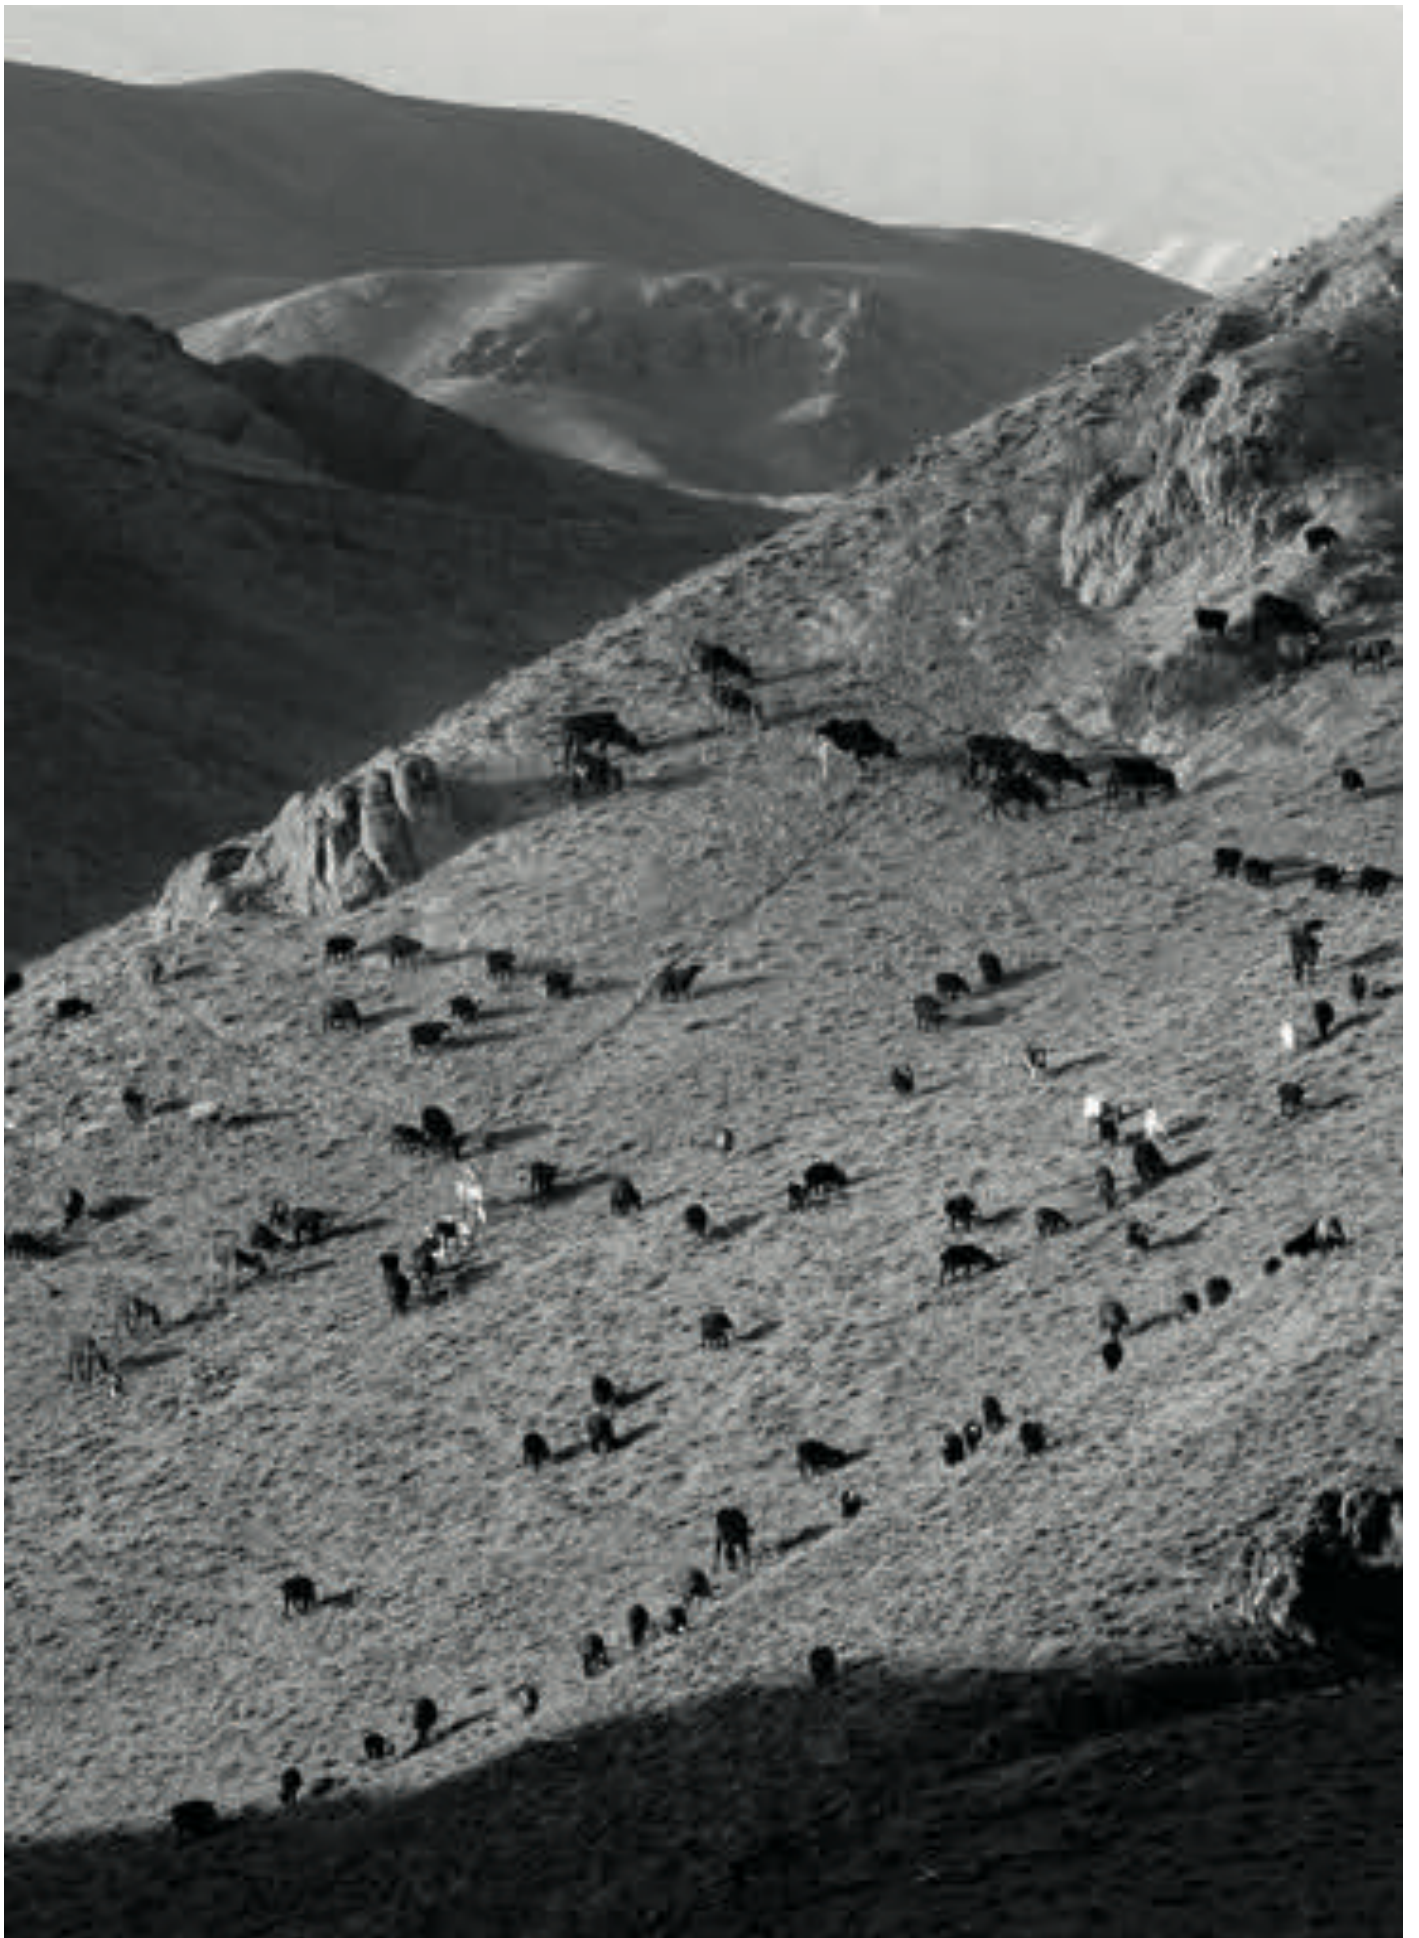

VICUÑA

PERU

A precious gift from the high Andean plateaux, vicuña wool is one of the most sought after and luxurious textiles in the world. It symbolises the splendours of Inca civilisation, when it was against the law for anyone but royalty to wear vicuña garments. Vicuña is absorbent, has excellent insulating properties and - being free of lanolin - is also hypoallergenic. Vispring selects these long, lustrous fibres for their warmth, their beauty and their delicious softness.

MOHAIR

SOUTH AFRICA

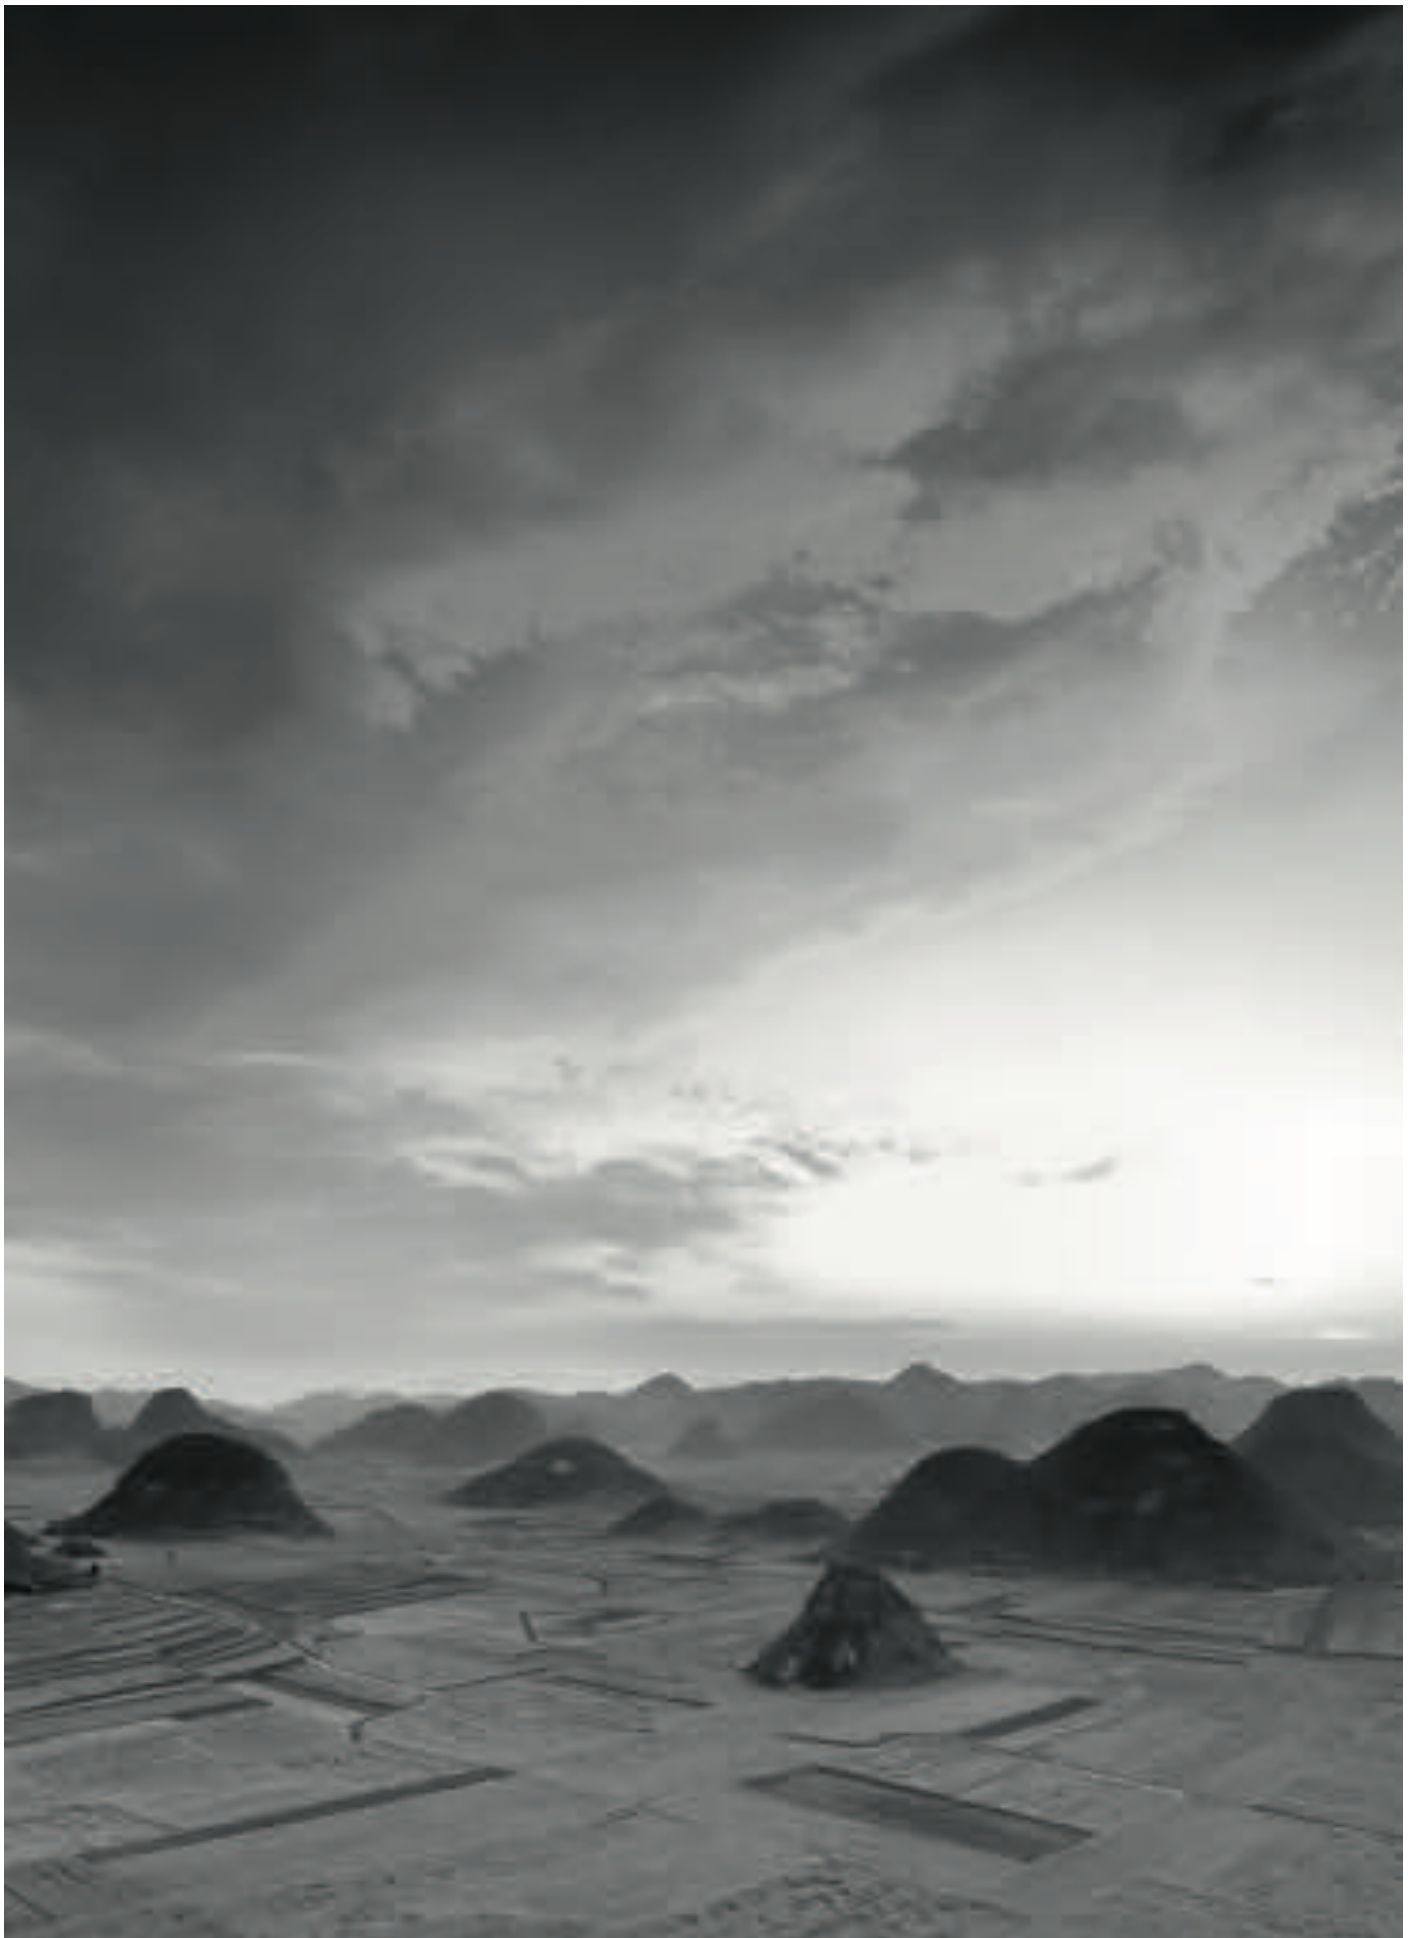

Our mohair comes from the Karoo National Park in South Africa, a spectacular expanse of semi-desert and grassland that produces the finest mohair in the world. One of the oldest textile fibres in use today, this luxurious material is made from the hair of the Angora goat. Durable, resilient and exquisitely soft, it is also an excellent natural insulator; warm in winter, its moisture wicking properties keep it deliciously cool in summer to guarantee year-round comfort.

CASHMERE

CHINA

The very name evokes the ultimate in luxury. Eight times warmer than sheep's wool yet significantly lighter, this long silky fibre is produced from the soft under-fleece of the Cashmere goat. It is collected during the spring moulting season, when the goats naturally shed their winter coat. Absorbent, resilient and exquisitely smooth, cashmere has excellent insulating properties. It contributes its unique softness and sumptuous feel to our finest mattresses.

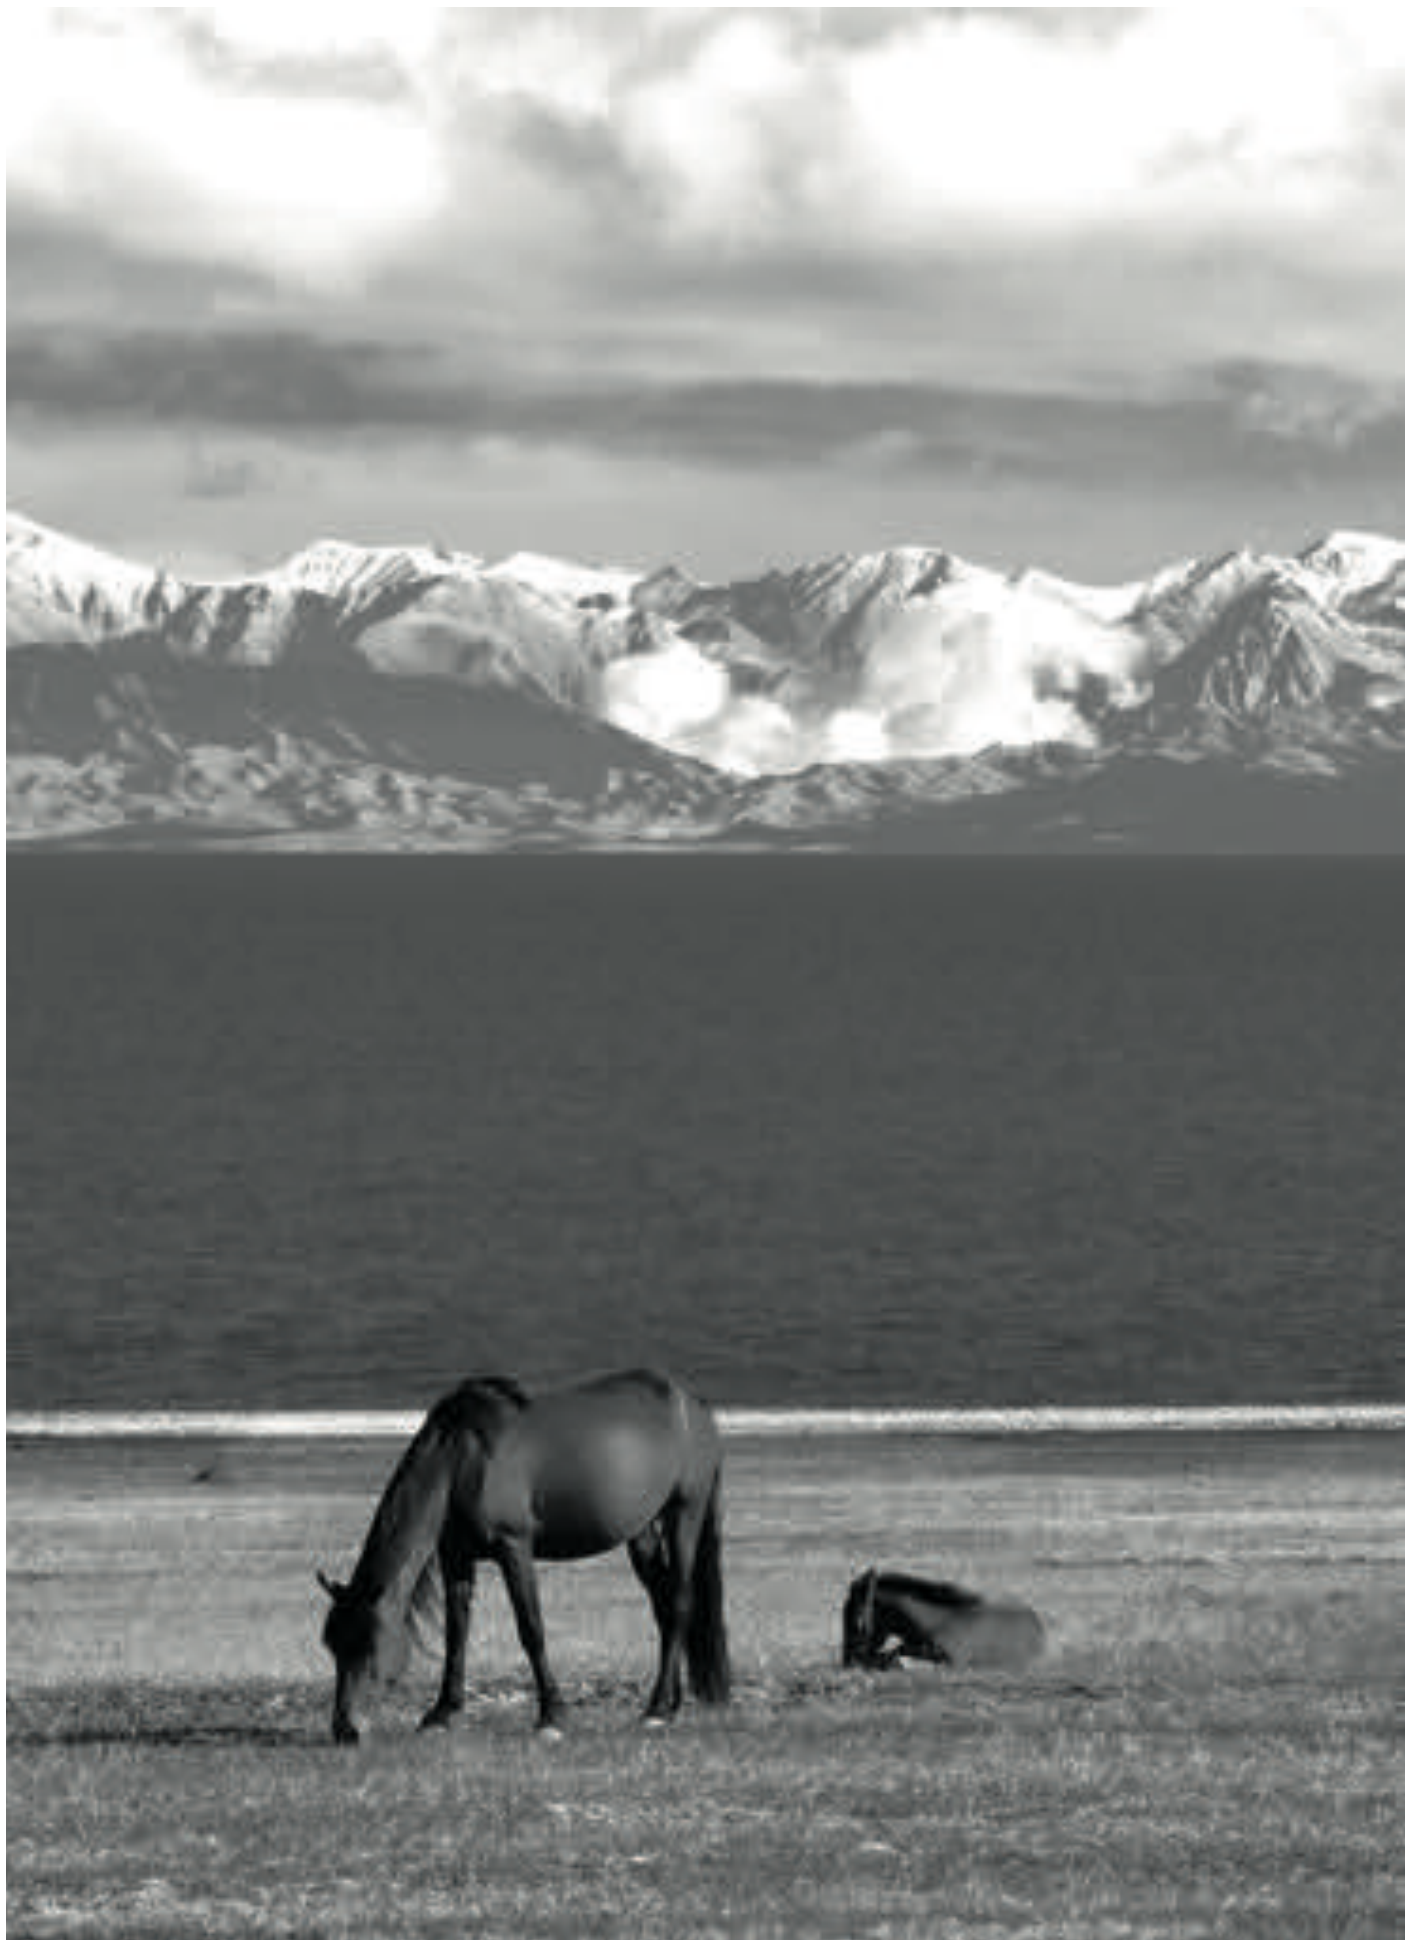

SILK

CHINA

The strongest natural fibre known to man, silk has been highly prized since ancient times. The silk that graces our beds comes from China - gateway to the ancient Silk Road. Rare, refined and incredibly soft, it was originally reserved exclusively for the Emperor's use: for centuries, its production method remained a closely guarded secret. Silk offers a naturally luxurious bedtime experience, adapting to ambient temperature to provide coolness in summer, warmth in winter and distinctive smoothness all year round.

HORSETAIL

AUSTRIA

Horsetail is said to have been first used as a textile in 8th century Spain, where proud Arab stallions were crossed with local Iberian mares. The longest natural fibre, it has been an essential element of upholstery and bed making for generations. Whether from the mane or tail, it contributes unparalleled springiness to our beds. The finest quality is European horsetail, untwisted by hand to preserve the fibre's natural resilience and the open structure that facilitates air circulation. Adding horsetail to a bed is like giving it two million extra springs: the fibre bounces back after compression to restore your mattress's shape after a restful night's sleep.

FROM TOWN TO COUNTRY

Our beds are equally at home in an urban apartment or a country house. Available in a variety of styles with features that can be adapted to order, they contribute an inimitable note of luxury to any decor.

Today's world encompasses a kaleidoscope of distinct realities. But from the hectic pace of the city to the unchanging rhythms of the countryside, one thing remains constant: our essential quest for the harmony and well-being that only a perfect night's sleep can provide.

Your home, your tastes and your way of life are unique reflections of your personality. Vispring takes them all into consideration, to supply a bed tailor-made to your own individual needs.

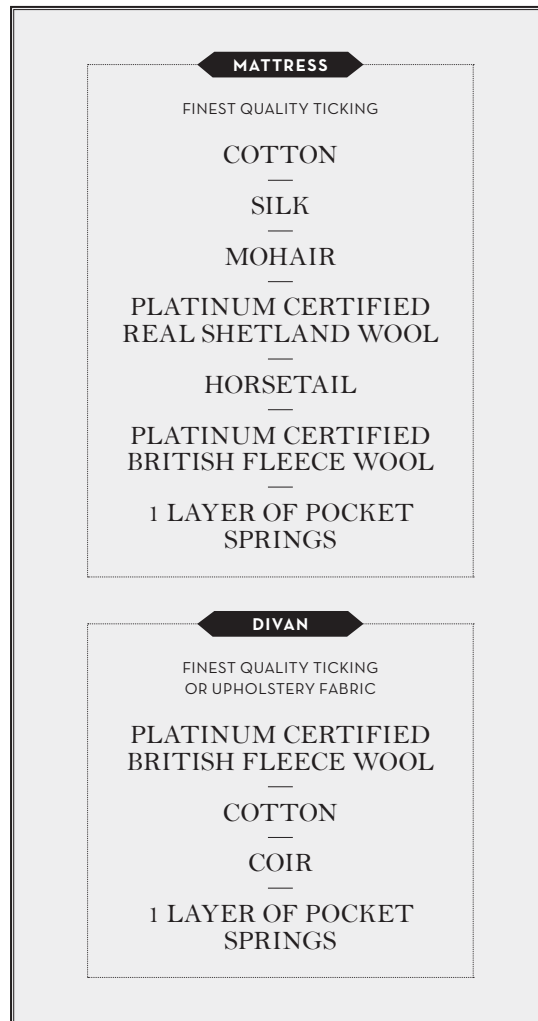

Reassuringly traditional, it bathes in a serene atmosphere of order and proportion. Ornamental details evoke a haven of delicacy and femininity.
